Glitter Wizard (USA)

This band of California rifflords pillage the best of vintage hard rock while keeping their laser eyes on the future, creating a unique brand of oddball psychedelia. Their onstage performance is a glammed-up force to be reckoned with and they've been taking their act on the road from the West Coast all the way to Europe. The original concept for Glitter Wizard was to be a stoner-glam band," says front man Wendy Stonehenge. Wizards, as you know, are often associated with the arcane, the supernatural and mind-altering drugs. And glitter? "Glitter is like the herpes of art supplies," quips bassist Arthur Tea. "You can never really get rid of it." Originally formed in Santa Cruz by Stonehenge, the band's current incarnation materialized in San Francisco two years ago. Onstage, perhaps, is where most of the "glitter" comes in as Glitter Wizard incorporates the visual flair of glam rock into its performance. The stark contrast of red lipstick being encroached upon by guitarist Lorfin Terrafor's (a name he adopted from one of his Dungeons & Dragons characters) unkempt facial hair brings to mind a certain "wizard" of lore, Roy Wood circa 1973. Add to that some flashy synthetic fibers, bared chests and women's lingerie, and you have what is commonly referred to as "a curiosity."

THE BAND RELEASED A BUNCH OF GREAT "GLAM-STONER-PSYCH" ALBUMS DURING THE PAST YEARS, INCLUDING THE LAST "HOLLOW EARTH TOUR" VIA HPS RECORDS.

Oreyeon (IT)

Formed in 2014 by members of such as Woodwall, Mexican Mud or Army of Angry Youth, Oreyeon made a first impressing impact on the heavy rock scene with their debut 'Builders of Cosmos' released back in 2016. The band's inspirations come from various kinds of the heavy music genre, but especially they find their roots in the glories of Black Sabbath, melting with hints of metal and mixing the classic stoner rock such as acts alike Texas' stoner heavyweights The Sword. Monolithic guitars, huge bass frequencies, melodic and complex vocals, Oreyeon know how to please every classic and stoner rock mind!

On their second album and the debut on Heavy Psych Sounds, Oreyeon try to move away from the usual stoner rock clichés into a more elaborate and melodic style. The vocal structures and harmonizations are definitely more complex, rich of melodies while the music tends towards a heavier path, taking cues from way different kinds of genres and band references.
