Brujeria

Decades before Breaking Bad, Narcos, or Mayans M.C., BRUJERIA put the world of cartels and ritualistic murder on wax with a brutal power equivalent to when Compton arrived in pop culture via NWA. BRUJERIA emerged, shrouded in mystery and infamy, in 1989. They forcefully introduced phrases like Matando Güeros, La Migra, Marijuana y Brujerismo into the lexicon of extreme subcultures from hardcore punk to death metal. The brutal death grind band from Mexico came to represent the notoriously violent world of illegal drug trafficking, vicious retaliation, and a sinister syncretism between Afro-Caribbean sorcery like Palo Mayombe and Santeria with outright demonic possession.

They brandish rifles and machetes. Most importantly, they're armed with an arsenal of brutal riffs. Rumors abound that frontman Juan Brujo ingeniously surrounded himself over the years with members of legendary bands like NAPALM DEATH, CARCASS, and AT THE GATES and performers from beloved TV shows like Orange Is The New Black and Jackass. But nobody knows for certain. That's because the men and women of BRUJERIA conceal themselves with bandanas, serapes, and balaclavas.

The Äth

THE ATH is back! Mit Rap-Metal im Gepäck!

Der deal war, daß eben Hallein zugesperrt wird. Hallein ist ein Bauernopfer in diesem Fall. Das haben sie von Anfang an.....das ist halt rausgezögert worden... Aber das ist eben so... Oder wie unser alter Kumpel Gandalf sagen würde: "Seit über 20 Jahr´ lebt eich THE ATH eichan Lifestyle vor....."

Athiria

ATHIRIA is back!! In old freshness and with a new line-up!! Returning from the underworld, once again with Ossi on bass and the powerful vocals of Andy as the new lead singer! Yes, ATHIRIA is now female-fronted and sounding more aggressive than ever!
